Mrs. Shirley Walsworth

She is firm yet she is understanding. She always has time for us whether we are interrupting her or not. Her time to listen to our complaints seems to be unlimited, although we know how busy she is. Her helpful words of advice always seem to make things work out just right.

The saying goes, "Be a nurse, be someone special." Well, the 1971 class at MMCS agrees with this, and to you, Mrs. Shirley Walsworth, we dedicate our yearbook.

In Appreciation

Mrs. Katherine Briggs

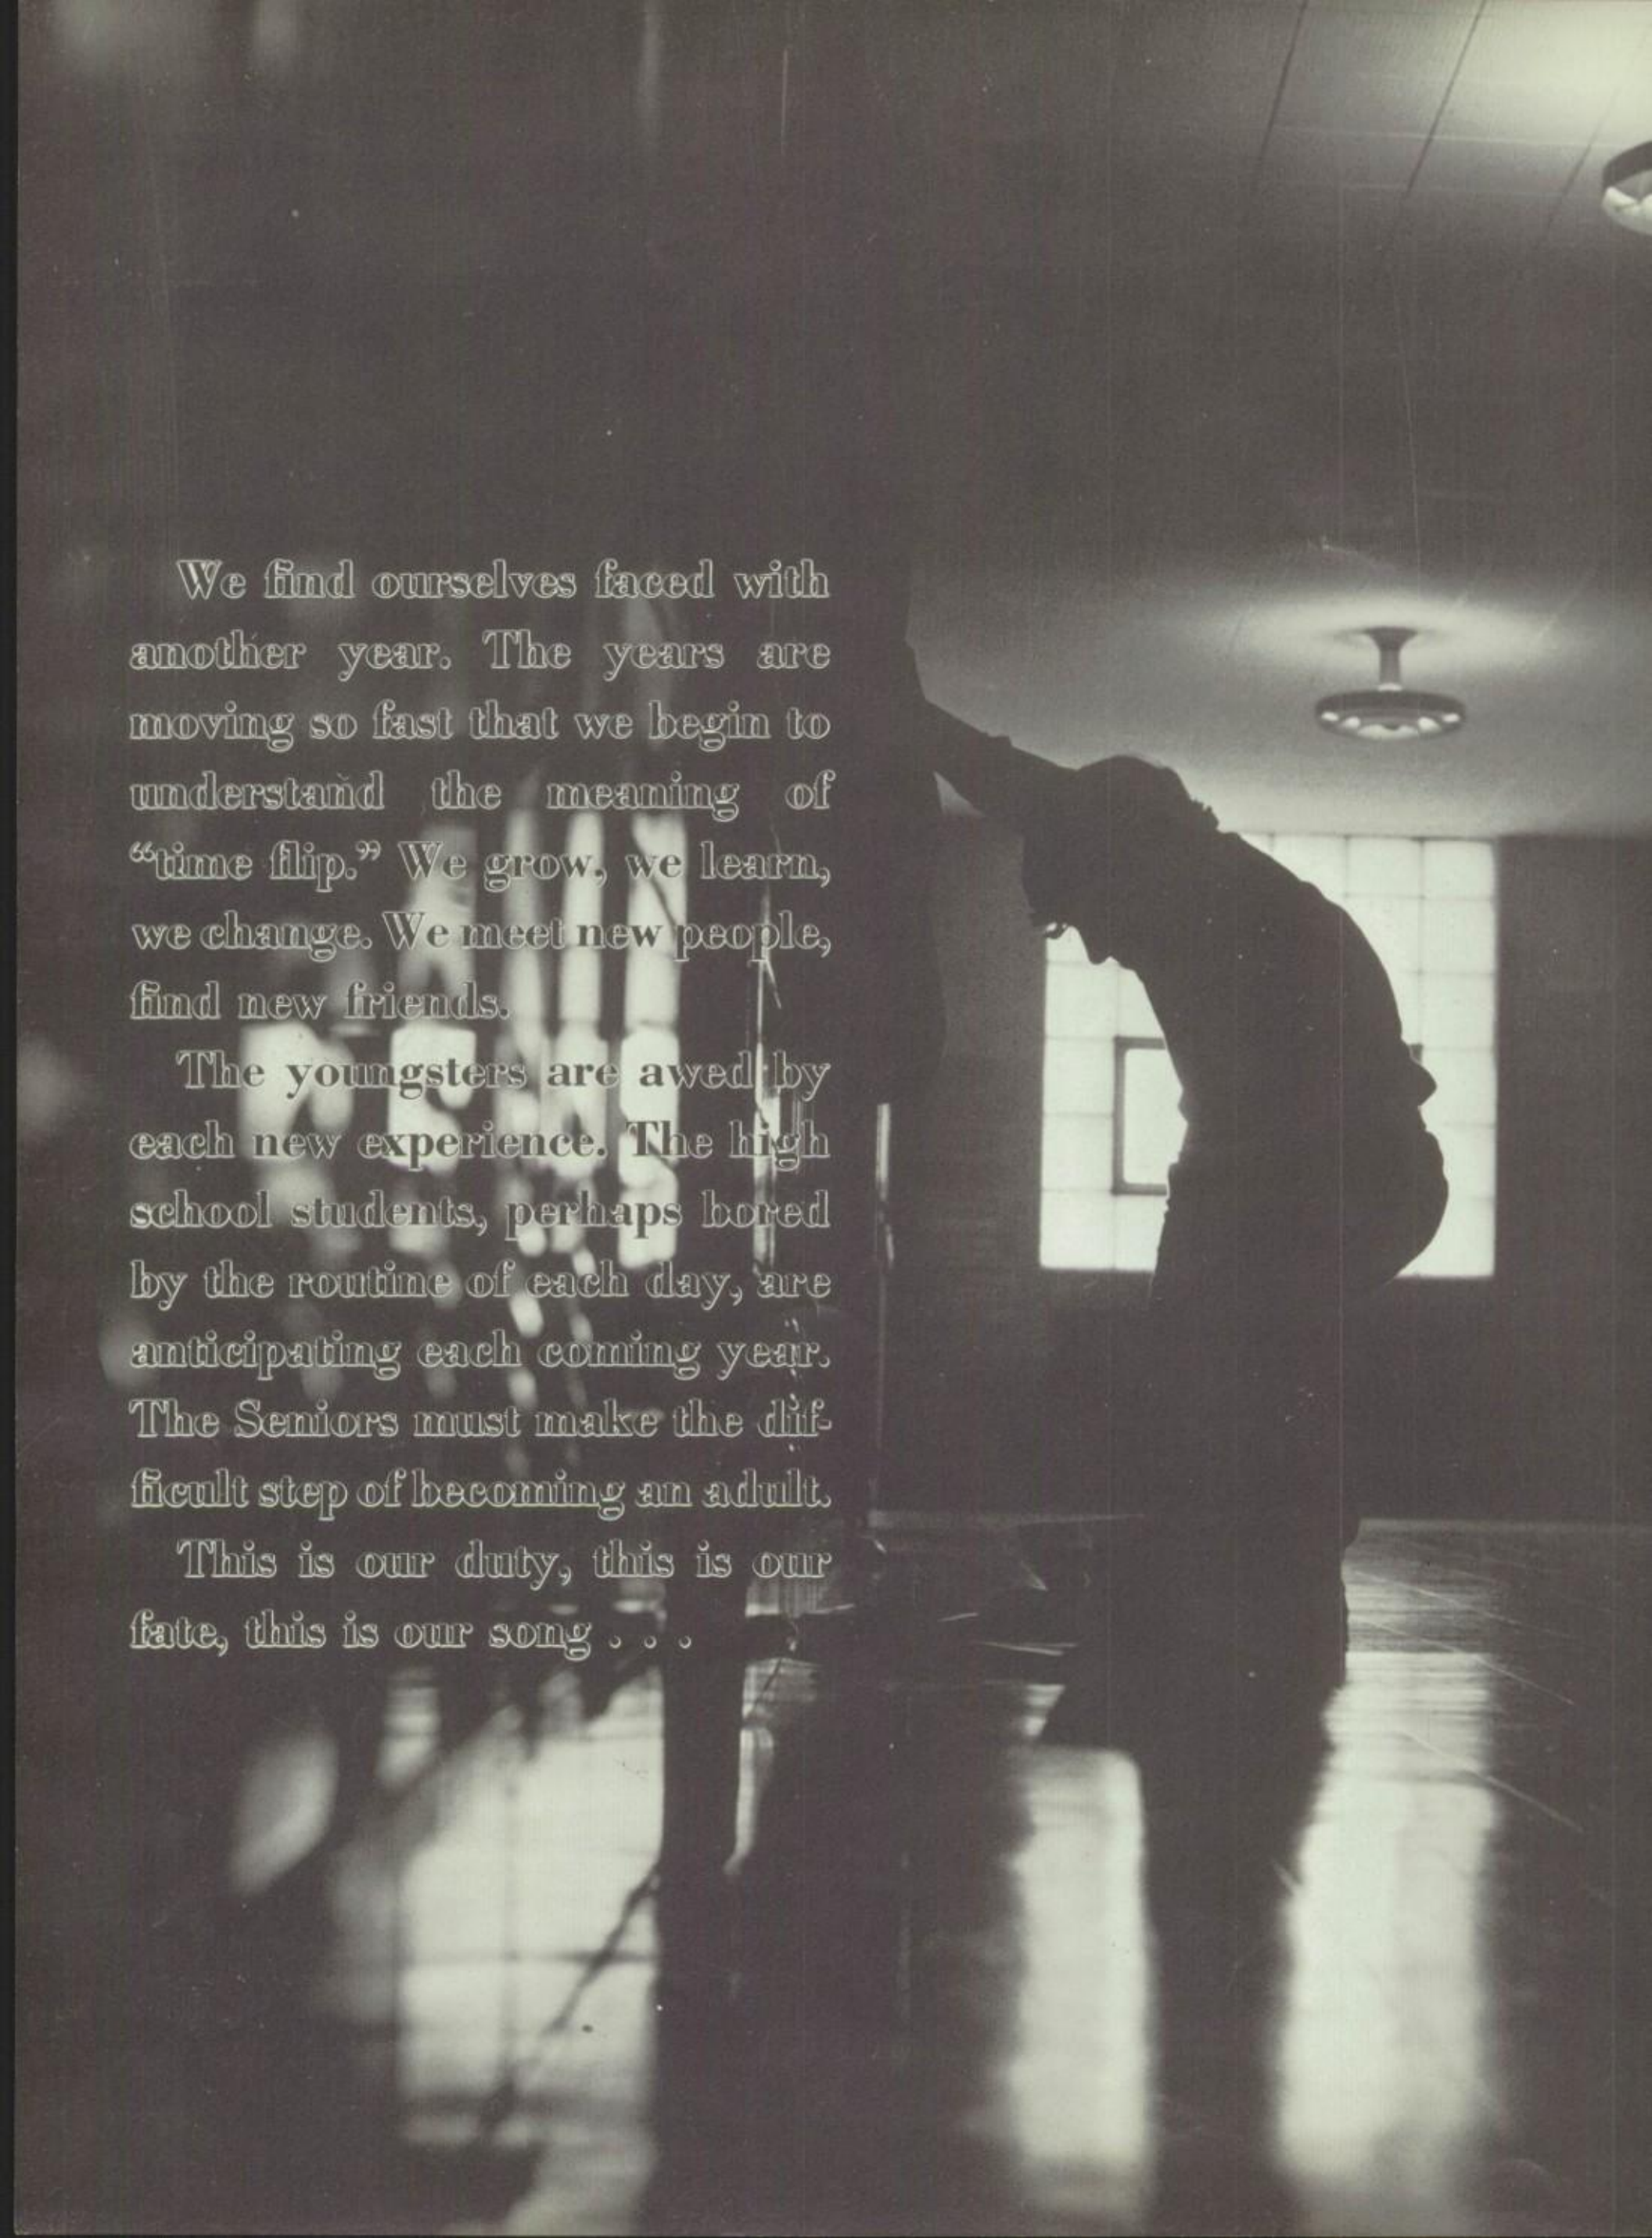

Mr. Nicholas Scotti

The class of 1971 wishes to express our appreciation for the years of guidance and understanding that these three people have given us as advisors.

Mr. James Cochrane

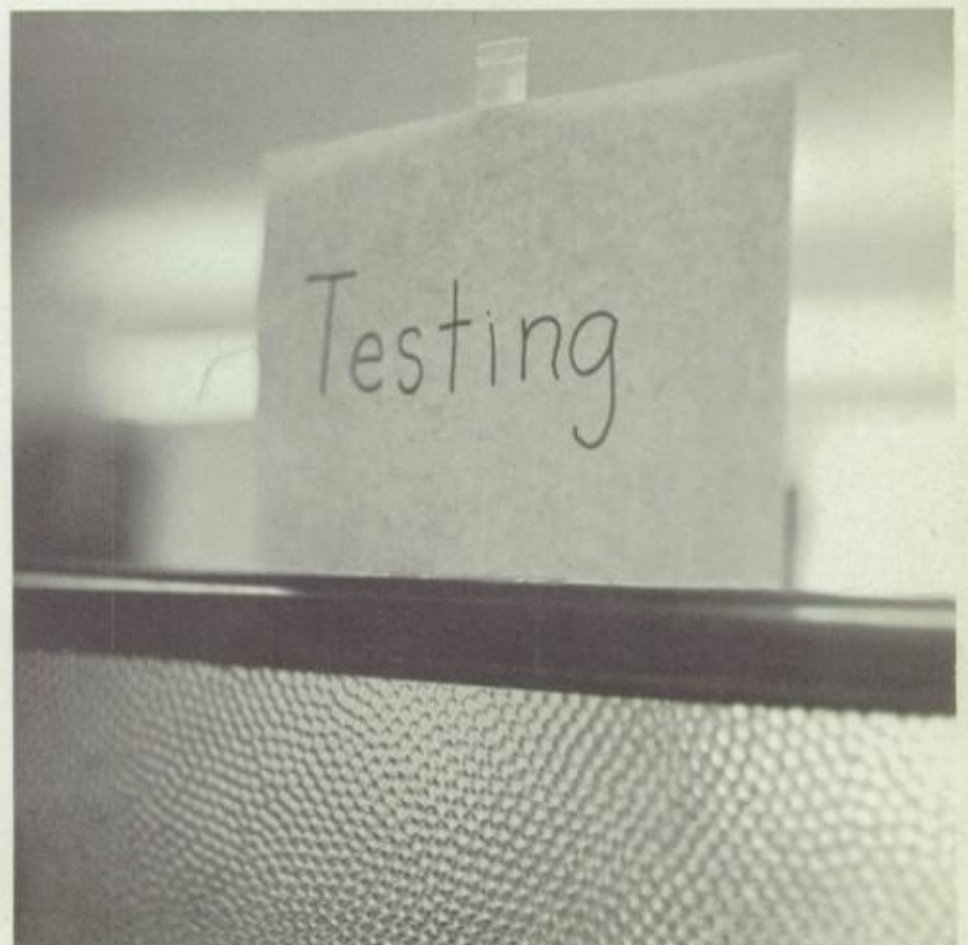

We find ourselves faced with another year. The years are moving so fast that we begin to understand the meaning of "time flip." We grow, we learn, we change. We meet new people, find new friends.

The youngsters are awed by each new experience. The high school students, perhaps bored by the routine of each day, are anticipating each coming year. The Seniors must make the difficult step of becoming an adult.

This is our duty, this is our fate, this is our song . . .

Been comin' down for a long time
 Changes comin' down
 on me
 Can't seem to carry them all now
 Been wishin' there was Someone else I could be

"Don't cry, you'll get it someday!"

"It seems nobody's around when I need them most."

"The halls are empty and I still have to wait in line."

These Are
Those Days
We Thought
Would Never End.

"What IS he trying to tell us?"

"Happiness is leaning on a wall after your last class."

"You're the hardest person to find when I need you."

"AH ha, I got you now hangnail!"

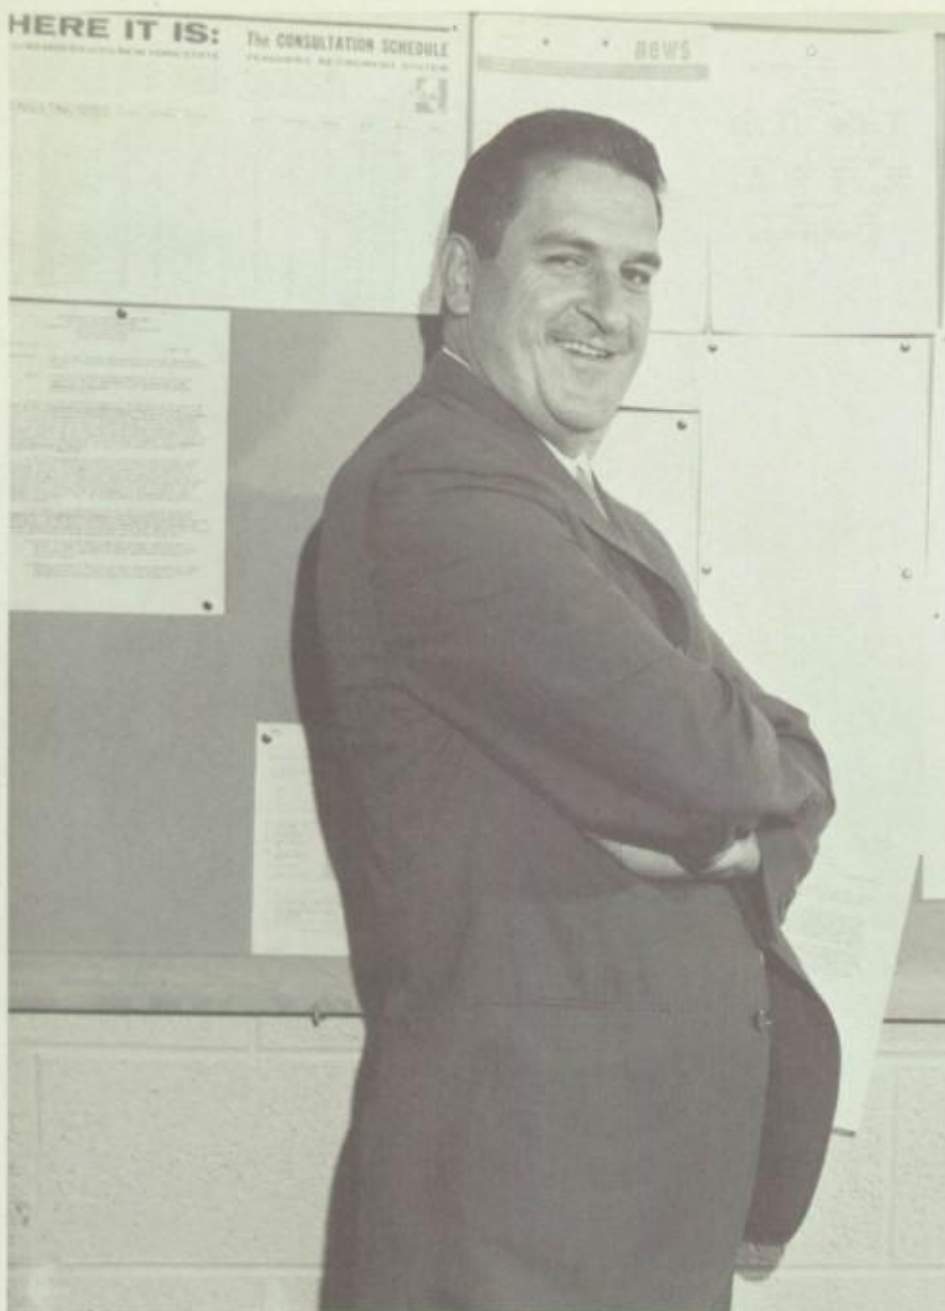

"Let me go, my stomach is driving me crazy!"

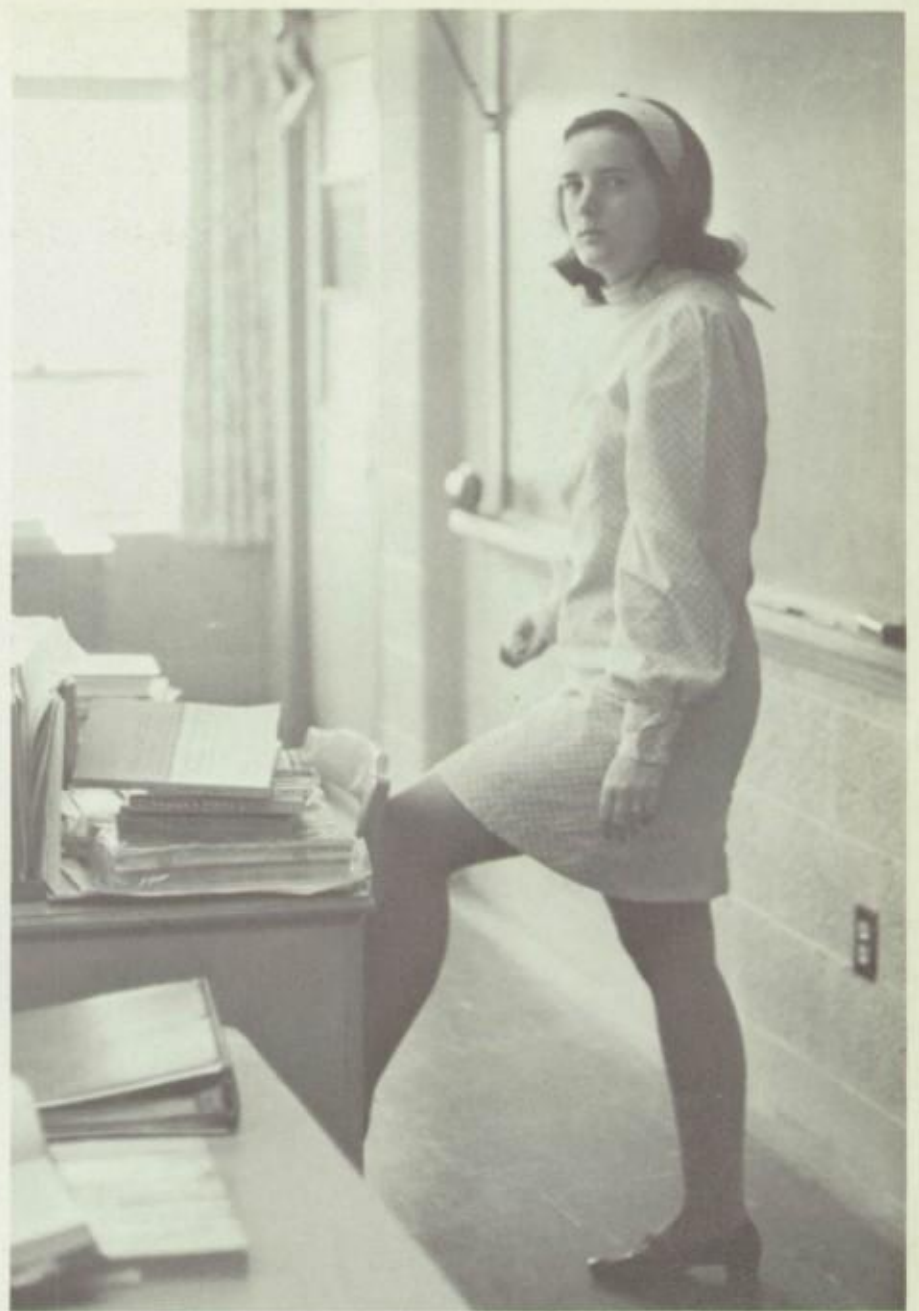

"Oh well, I never could hit that note anyway."

As Days Go by
It Seems
We Only Say Hello
And Then—
Good-bye

"I use Ultrabrite!"

"Can I help it if I can't get the drawer closed?"

"A little bit of practice could help."

Administration

"Hey now who cares?
Hey now won't someone
listen?
Let me say what's on my mind.
Can I put it out to you?
I need someone to talk to
And no one else will spare me the time,"

The men of the administration, often too little appreciated, have the difficult task of directing the students. Not always able to socialize casually with students, they are more intent on guiding us through our formative years. We express our thanks for their help in our quest for a better tomorrow.

"I used to try and fly away
Upon the flood of dreams.
Tasting all the good and bad
From on the serpent's tree.
Little ones remind us
Of a place we used to be."

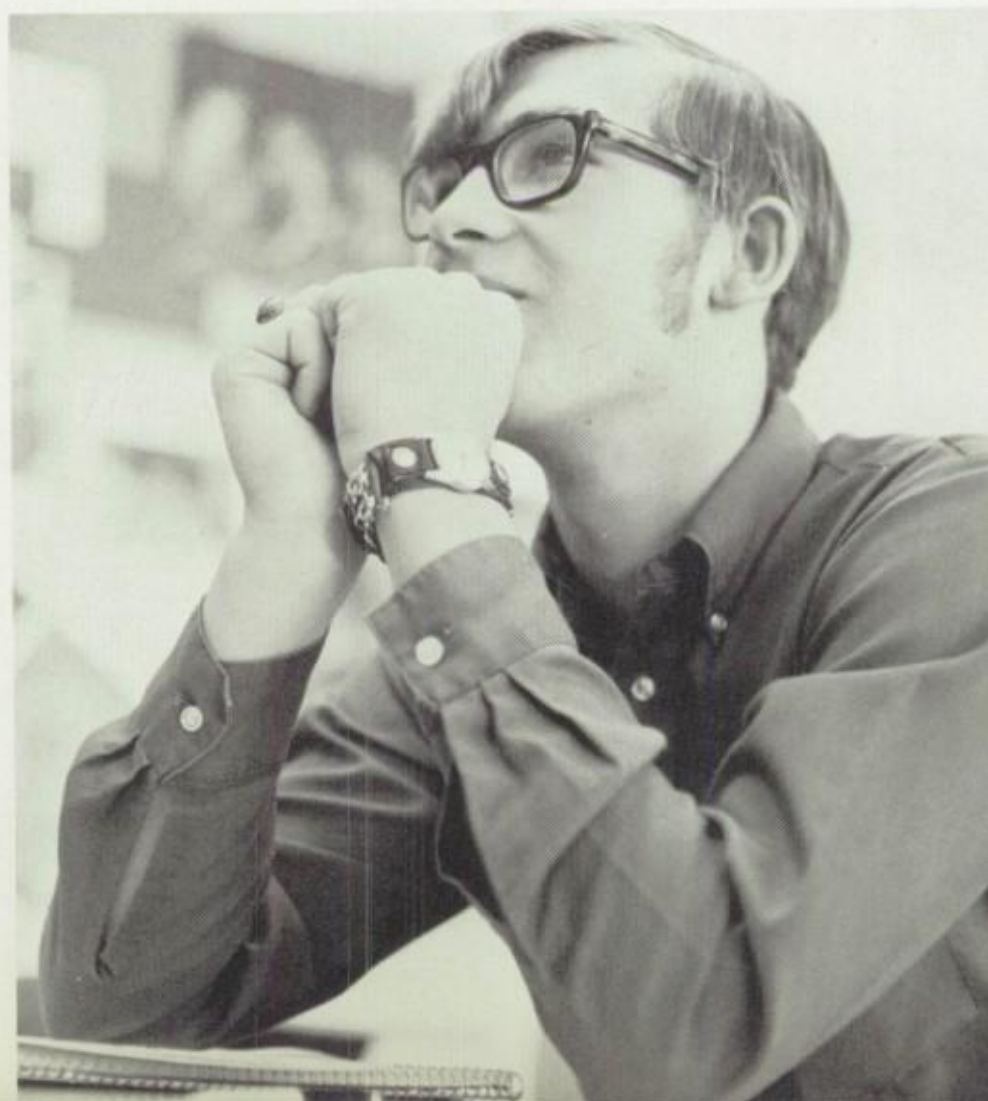

—Felix Cavaliere

We must no longer be as children, living our lives in the fantasy of dreams. We have no other choice but to face the harsh reality of life.

The world can be changed, however, and it is up to us to change it. By taking advantage of a wonderful thing called "education", by absorbing all the knowledge we possibly can, by learning and benefiting from the experiences of others, we can truly make this world a better place in which to live.

"36, 26, 36" ?

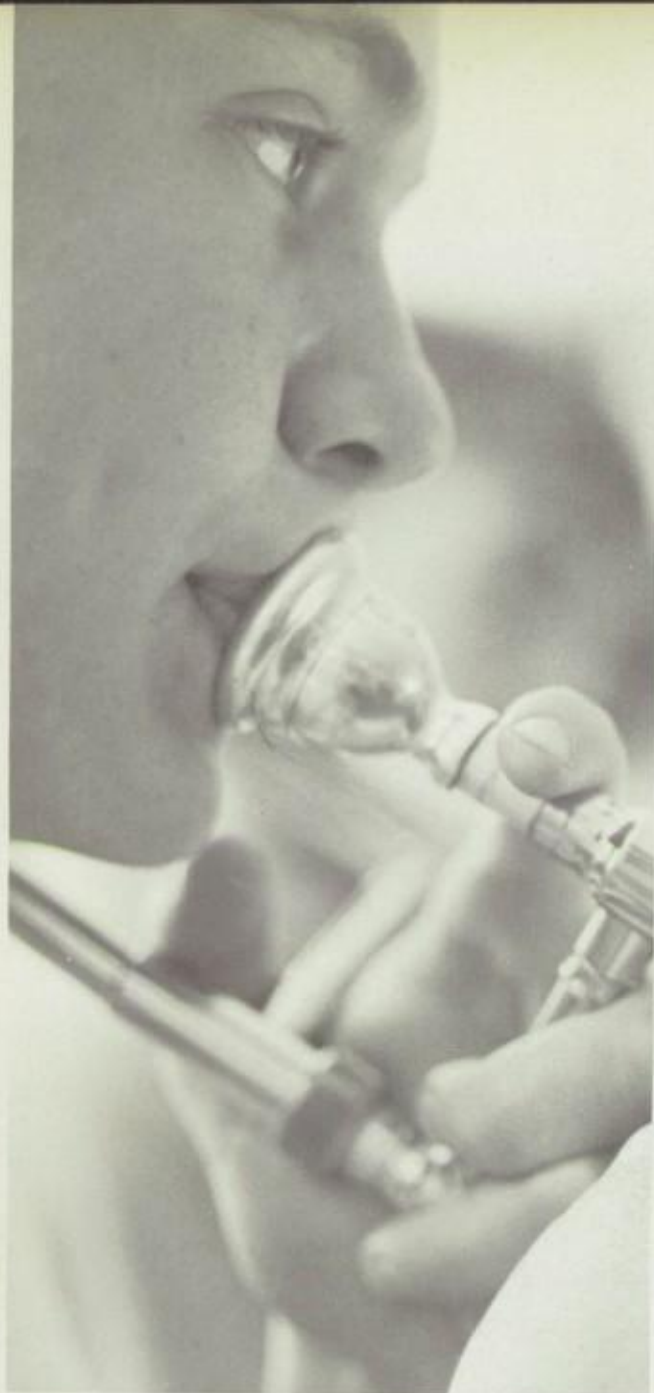

I'm sure glad he kicked me out. Listen to him yell at the other kids.

Playboy? No that's out, but I'll put you on the list—number 48.

It's a bird. It's a plane.
It's Debbie?

I wonder if Mr. Matina can tell when I'm faking.

Do you mind if I do my homework?

How can anybody expect to swim when people leave balls in the water!

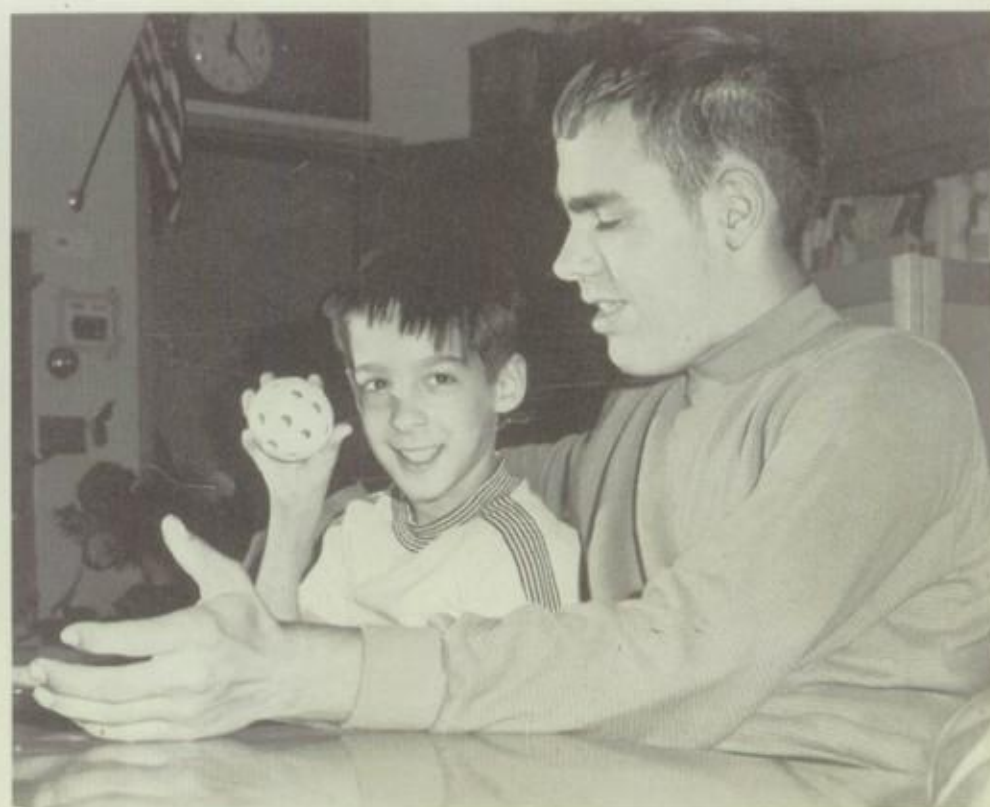

Yeah, but he doesn't know it. I sit in the back of the room.

Activities

“The Changing of Sunlight
To Moonlight
Reflections of My Life”
—Marmalade

Everyday we think about two things—yesterday and tomorrow. As the days pass we become older and wiser.

By being in many activities we prepare for the future as we make many memories.

We learn to understand other people as well as ourselves. We learn skills and how to apply them to everyday living. We learn leadership, we learn to respect, we learn to inquire. We learn to share, to co-operate, to help. We learn to use the knowledge we already have to create more knowledge.

Activities help in creating an understanding among students. An understanding so strong that it will stay in our minds for many years to come.

Sports

"In the clearing stands a boxer,
And a fighter by his trade.
And he carries the reminders
Of every glove that laid him down

And cut him till he cried out
In his anger and his shame,
'I am leaving, I am leaving.'
But the fighter still remains."

—Paul Simon

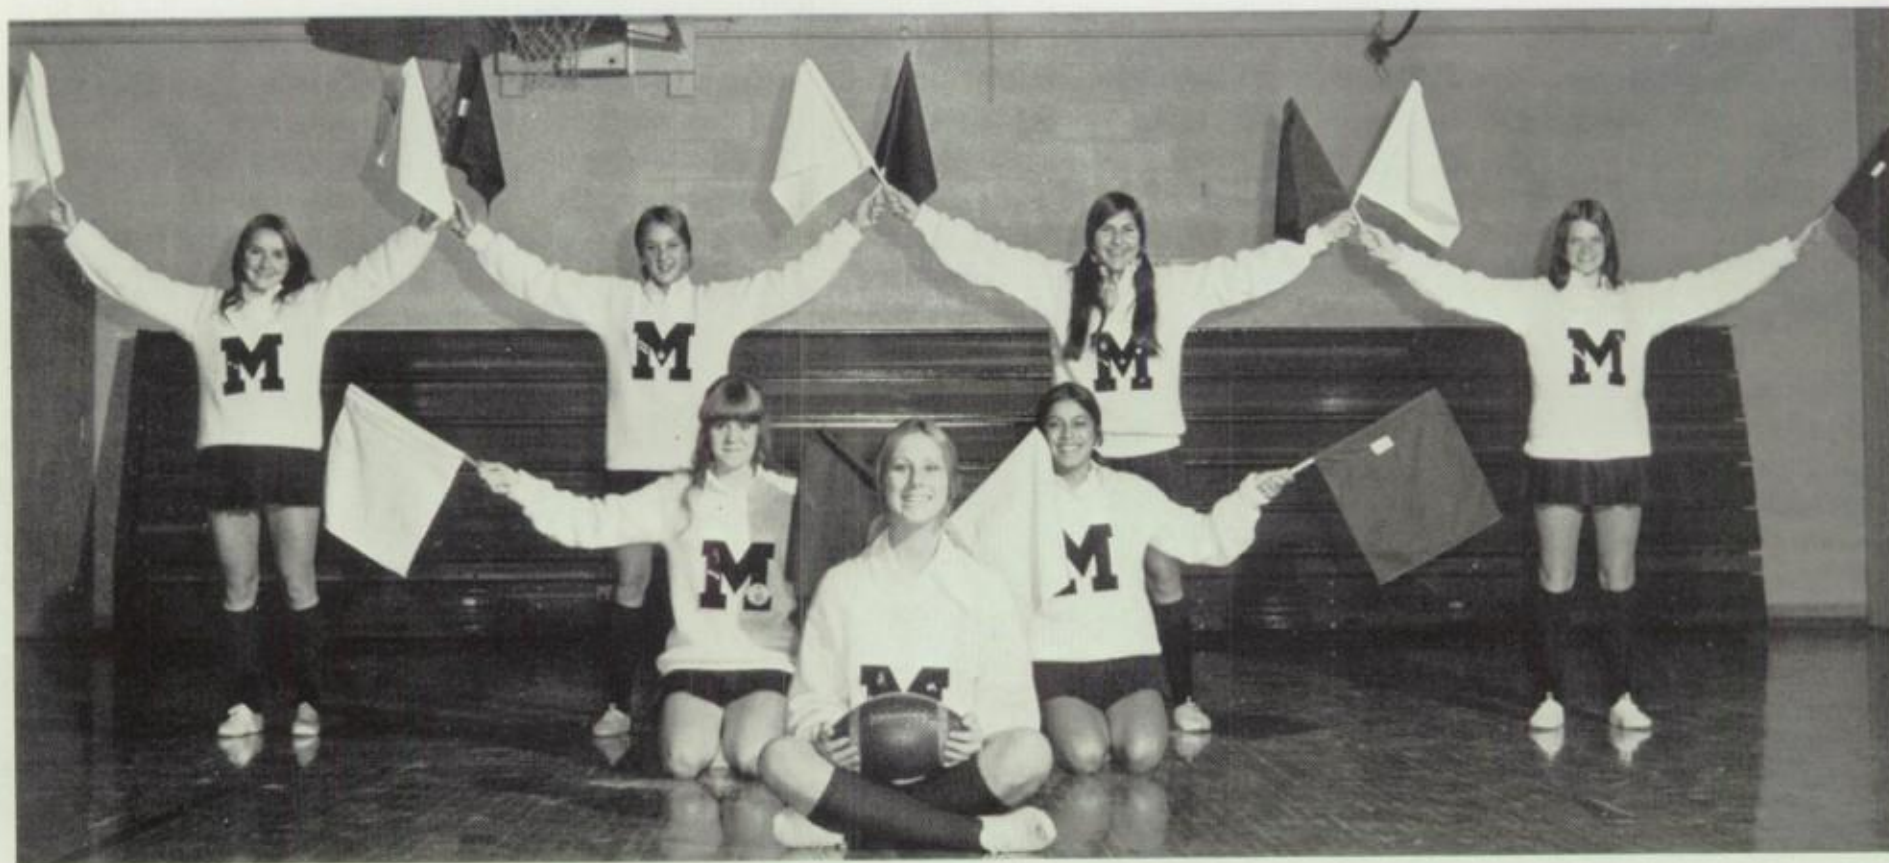

The words of this song speak for themselves. One of the main ideas of sports is to encourage competitiveness among individuals, something that is necessary in order to be successful in this "dog-eat-dog" world. Even though our backs might be against the wall and all the odds seem to be against us, until that final whistle is blown, that final buzzer sounded, or that final out made, the fighter must remain in us all.

Oh, theres no time to lose, I heard her say
You gotta catch your dreams
before they run away
Dying all the time
Lose your dreams and you might lose your mind
Is life unkind

Rolling Stones

Looking back on the memories of those bygone years in which character was being shaped in us, social awareness beginning to arouse us and love of life implanted into our minds, there are many things we wish we would have done, undone, or tried to do. Missed opportunities haunt us, memories of past inequities are not quite forgotten, and while daydreaming, the remembrance of some simple, little, loving act performed for another long ago still warms our hearts.

All too often children grow up and grow old and their whole life is a story of missed chances, could-have-beens and I-wish-I-would-have's . . .

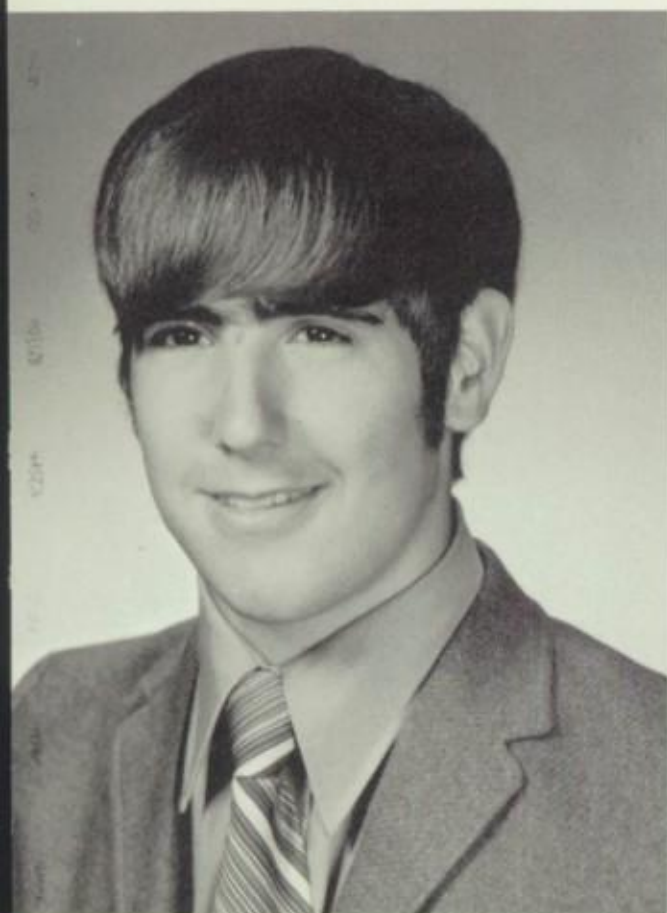

We are young, not yet set in our ways. We still have the opportunity to decide what we will make of ourselves.

Our Director: Mr. Orologio

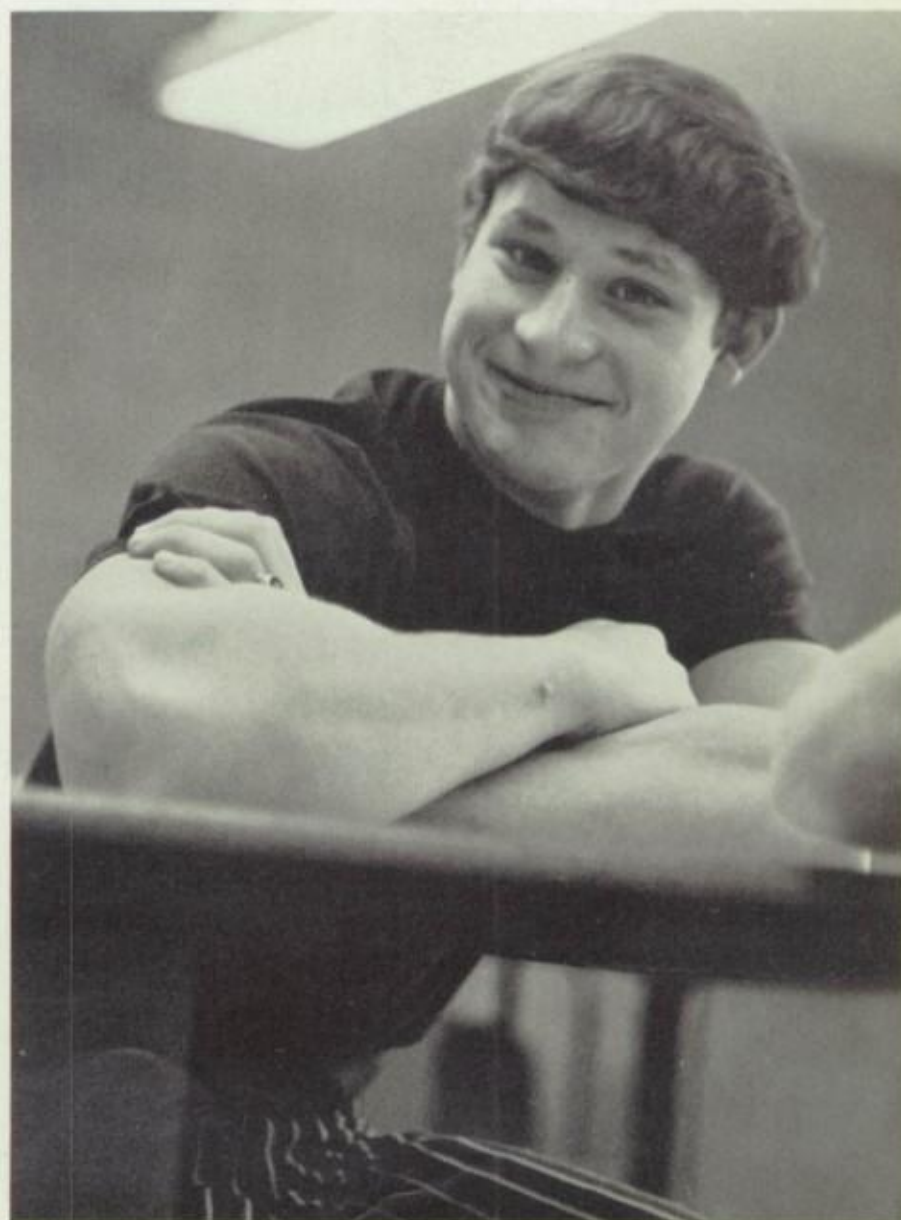

"Don't you think I should be added in the trophy case?"

"Well, if they catch me skipping, I'll shoot them with my gun!"

"Don't 'Snickers' Guy, we're taking your picture."

"With this face and this physique, what do ya mean I'm a loser?"

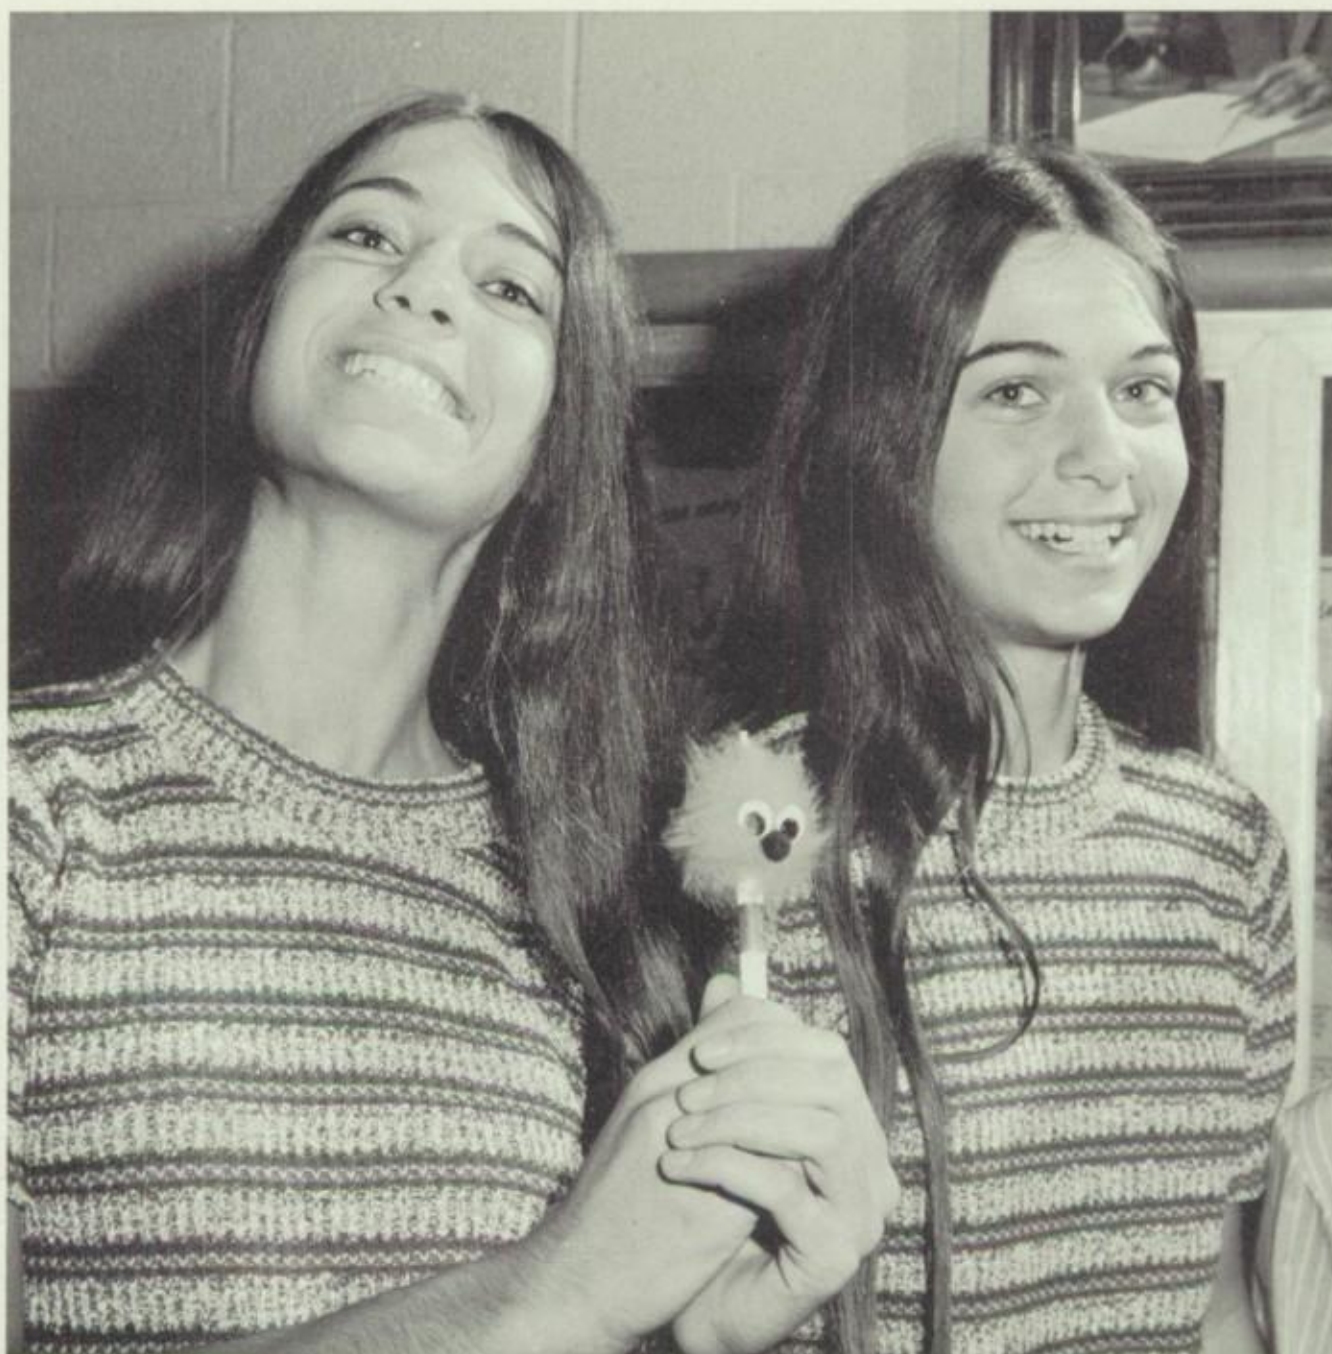

"See, I told ya they would take our picture because we look so good!"

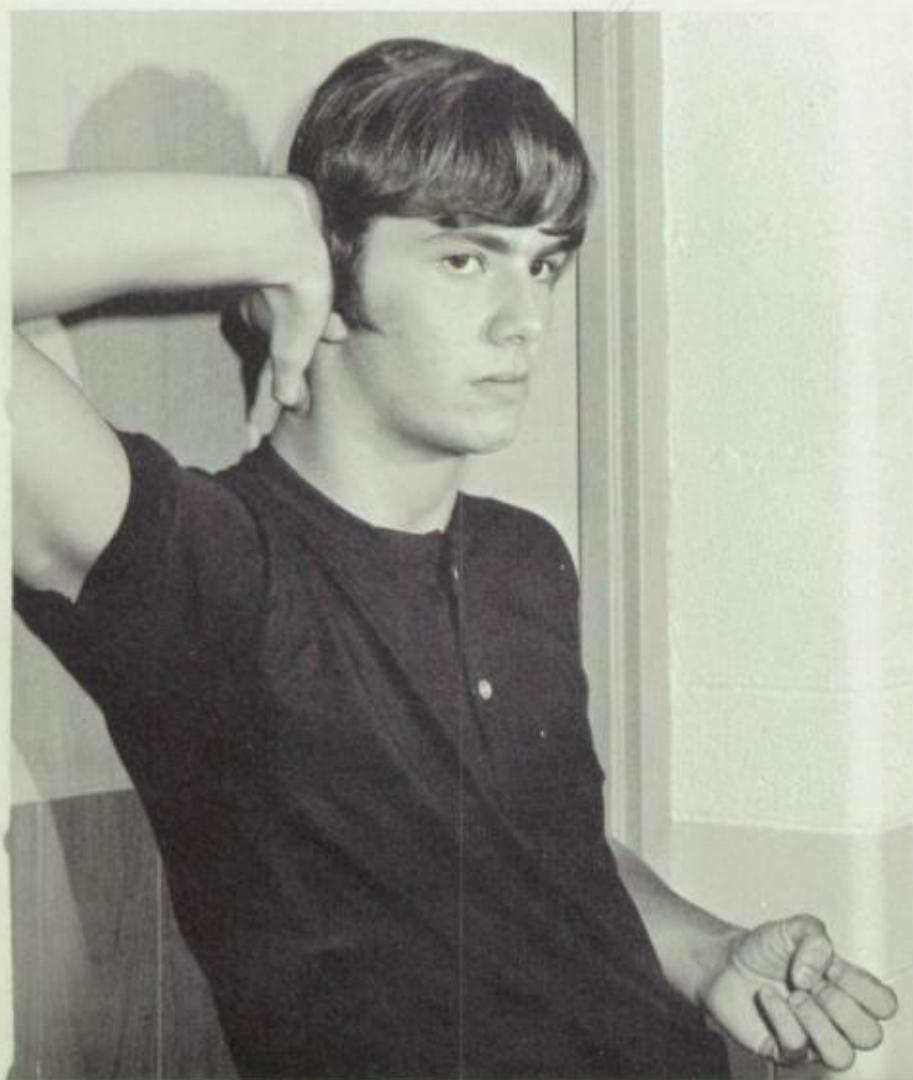

"Aren't you facing the wrong way, Guy?"

"Now really! Do I look like Mrs. Bruen?"

"Don't you think we look like the Farkel twins?"

"Ya got something to say about me?"

"Look Jim, the photographer has red hair, too!"

As you flip through the pages in the "Heights" of 1971, we the editors of this yearbook, feel that you do not fully understand the work that goes into this book. It starts out with a rough draft but as our deadlines are met we can see our book being molded into the finished product it is today.

But this book would not be possible at all without the help of our advisor. She listened to all our ideas and helped us express them in this book. So at this time, Mrs. Lawrence, the editors and staff wish to thank you for all your efforts, and ideas.

At this time we would also like to thank all the Faculty and administration who put up with all the interruptions and absences from class.

Next, we would like to thank all those people who gave us money for ads.

And last but not least the three of us would like to express our sincere thanks to our hard-working staff, especially Bill Chi, the best photographer MMCS will ever have and to Debbie Palermo our writing Co-ordinator, whose theme idea added a memorable touch to the Heights.

Thank you again,
Joan Wallace
